A new important collaboration is launched by BOX NOW. In particular, it is entering into an partnership with the e-commerce giant, eBay. The main goal of the cooperation is to strengthen the extroversion of Greek eshops. Now, Greek eshops will be able to accept orders from all over the world through the eBay marketplace.

eBay has chosen BOX NOW as a strategic partner and one of the largest Lockers networks in Southeast Europe. BOX NOW as a logistics partner will provide solutions for the collection and dispatch of parcels to the end user abroad.

The collaboration, recognizing the know-how and best practices that BOX NOW has demonstrated with its continuous development and expansion of its customer base. It also includes educational webinars that eBay and BOX NOW will jointly implement. The shared educational experience also highlights the possibilities that BOX NOW offers to its customers.

Greece is one of the key countries in eBay's global portfolio and already thousands of Greek sellers are taking advantage of the simplified way of managing their global sales through its platform. By implementing the Growth Program for Small and Medium Enterprises (SMEs), worth thousands of dollars per participant, eBay provides Greek companies with business support to sell their products to over 133 millions of buyers worldwide in 190 markets.
